GENERAL INTRODUCTION

First Part

* The first part of this analysis covers the Moon's Nodes, which are the North and South intersections of the Moon's elliptic orbit with the plane of the ecliptic.

* The second part is the interpretation of a "dark luminary", Lilith or the Black Moon, which is the second focus of the ellipse travelled by the Moon around the earth, which is considered to be the first focus.

The Moon's Nodes : Their interpretation is particularly relevant in karmic astrology, which is based on our personal past and on previous lives. In that sense, the axis of the Moon's Nodes going from South to North is the growth that we have to accept and go through during this lifetime; all this happens in a space-time that goes beyond our current life. The South Node stands for the lessons from the past and the North Node for the outcome of our growth. The tensions in our lives are often the result of either a weak evolution in relation to the South Node, or, resistance to that evolution, as if we were swimming upstream in a river.

Lilith or the Black Moon : This "black luminary" conveys extremely radical concepts. Indeed, Lilith at the same time stands for our most ancestral memory, that of an innate knowledge, of a consciousness and awareness as sharp as a blade, and on the other hand, total rebellion, insubordination, the final "No" without concessions. It also stands for the ambivalence between the almost compulsive desire for the symbolic values of its sign-and-house placements, and the cut and dried refusal of those same values. It is the symbol of extreme freedom with its dazzling joys but also the pain of the "price to pay" for that very freedom.

Second Part

Based on Tradition, this part covers the analysis of the astrological houses; the houses offer the advantage of providing precise and concrete information about our lives. Their analysis has been divided into three categories ranked by importance:

- 1) The Cardinal Houses
- 2) The Fixed Houses
- 3) The Mutable Houses

The houses in turn divide into axes.

Note: Every house deals with several subjects, but for clarity purposes we have given preference to certain themes.

We now invite you to start reading your Chart interpretation.

KARMIC ANALYSIS: NORTH NODE IN AQUARIUS

In the past, you developed a gigantic ego! Your strong will was geared to your taste for power: indeed you possessed all the qualities required! You were in the public eye as a patron surrounded by a court of flatterers who were satisfying your snobbery. You had tremendous talents, but you were cultivating them exclusively for your benefit, and you certainly succeeded. Unfortunately, all this implied a great contempt for others, if not discrimination or even sheer racism... You were very gifted for manipulation and didn't refrain from utilizing people around you like "pawns" to your exclusive service. Your great charisma was very useful, combined with a bizarre form of generosity, in the sense that you rarely used it without ulterior motives but rather as an additional weapon to subject others to your power. In short, you were the typical aristocrat, almost coming from the Middle Ages, definitely gifted for commandment, but a dashed tyrant, and finally fairly alone humanly speaking or in relationships.

Of course, your present lifetime is very destabilizing for you, because you still tend to try and dominate others. Needless to say that marriage or associations are going to be difficult if you put so little balance into partnership, demanding all rights and accepting only few duties! You sometimes tend to confuse reality with artificialness, because you lived so long in the clouds of power without sharing, and were consequently very little aware of the world around you. Your tendencies from the past could urge you to live withdrawn into yourself, like a hermit in the crowd, because you are too disgusted with everything or too proud to seek out other people's recognition! On the other hand, you possess real abilities to adapt to the weirdest situations. You are unpredictable to an excess, and whether your destiny is bright or strange, you will have destabilized many people around you if you're not able to hold back your instincts from before. The solution to this headache lies in the idea of SERVICE: it is now your turn to put your talents to the service of mankind (the only entity that is a match for you!) or to develop ideals totally made of selflessness. You possess all the assets necessary to make your life successful if you learn how to use your strengths in a fight for the weak, whom you ignored so much in the past. In that respect, you need to develop a sense of brotherhood and altruism, and totally free yourself of all personal demands. You need to live on an equal footing with other people and lend a helping hand to the underprivileged. You also need to learn to delegate: it is a good school of submission, and you tend to shoot ahead of your destiny instead of simply following it or facing it. Your great qualities and abilities in the field of avant-garde sciences or in the sense of the global evolution of society, will make you a very innovative and "disturbing" individual, but in a very positive sense if you direct these qualities towards more objectiveness and put them to the service of the destitute and the weak.

KARMIC ANALYSIS : NOTH NODE IN HOUSE 08

In previous lives, your personality was totally geared towards material possessions and acquisitions, and the pleasure they gave you. That "possessiveness" was just as much psychological as physical, and it applied also to relationships and sex. Your great lust implied a disproportioned jealousy that matched your violent passions. You were expending considerable energy to get what you wanted, but because you were afraid of losing it, you were continually dissatisfied. In fact, you were utilizing your energy negatively or for your own exclusive benefit, which was causing you to be a passive "epicurean". Nothing was good enough: not fortune, not money, not pleasure, not even love (if you can call that type of relationship "love"!). You were insatiable. You didn't do things halfway, but you were so nervously focused on accumulating your riches, that you almost never dared to act positively, constructively or as a volunteer outside of your own, well-protected field. As it often happens in such a case, your fear of being "dispossessed" implied an extreme dependence on your environment, an atrophy of your intellectual reflection and a lack of initiative to carve out a place for yourself in society.

This lifetime could be painful, because your mission, put maybe a little abruptly, is to LOSE EVERYTHING IN ORDER TO BE REBORN. Since you have kept a great part of materialism from before, it is not unusual that you succeed socially (besides, you possess awareness and intellectual clarity), but you will have to fight continually in order to get real acknowledged autonomy. You still have in you a mixture of laziness and stubbornness, a kind of bad faith and guilty indulgence towards your own weaknesses, which are obstacles to your growth. Moreover, you tend to persist with your errors, because you find it very hard to backtrack: you want to change, but you can't seem to find the energy for it! Watch out, because if you decided to follow your extremist tendencies, you could end up loathing yourself so much that you could become destructive towards people around you... In short, you should expect a fairly chaotic life with a lot of ups and downs, depending on whether you let yourself go and stick to your old tendencies, or try to force yourself out of them. One of the first lessons that you must learn, is to appreciate what you have without trying to get more and more, on the contrary... the more you agree to detach yourself from possessions, and the more you go from having to knowing, the better you will control yourself (you definitely like secrets and mysteries, and it would be extremely beneficial to put that taste to good use through study and research). And this concept of mastering your impulses and drives is very important. The key word in this lifetime is CALLING INTO QUESTION. If you finally manage to listen to other people and ask for their help when you need it, without being sure to get it, you will learn a lot. You have to put yourself through some pain in this life by freely divesting yourself, and that symbolic "death" will allow you to be born again, lighter and richer...

DELINEATION BLACK MOON IN ARIES

In Aries, the Black Moon acquires the spontaneity and impulsiveness characteristic of that sign, which amplifies its violent aspect. You take risks by defying interdicts and taboos with a sort of exhilaration. Your energy is as intense as destructive, and you could cause people around you to leave you or run away: indeed, your "brutality" is coupled with a blind and implacable demanding disposition. In fact, your burning passion for everything that has to do with action, provocation, and hard-core fighting, is a kind of compensation for your frantic desire to prove your abilities to everyone but maybe even more to yourself... you challenge everybody and their brother without any consideration for the cruelty that goes with living continually such paroxysmal situations. You are really ready to sacrifice your life for your beliefs, but this implacable extremism very often takes you onto uncontrollable paths or into situations that are difficult to contain: what you care about first is action! You are likely to foster a real fascination (sometimes accompanied with shame) for weapons, especially knives or cutting tools.

DELINEATION BLACK MOON IN HOUSE 11

In the eleventh house, the Black Moon will make you outrageously demanding in friendship and extremely selective in relationships. This intransigence is of course, and as always with Lilith, double-edged: the abruptness of your judgements is likely to alienate everyone around you! By wanting perfection too much in that area of life, you could very well go from failure to failure, losing dear friends who would turn their backs on you, or having to deal with painful betrayals. This instability in relationships could harm your projects in general by creating continual hindrances to their realization. You'll have to admit that you often lack tact and accumulate clumsy moves by displaying a somewhat fake insolence behind which there is a great shyness: you live in dissatisfaction, because you are looking for the ideal Friend, finally someone who would understand you! Besides, you are capable of giving everything you have once you think you have found him/her, including your life and free will.

SECOND PART

ANGULAR AXES ANALYSIS : HOUSES 1-7 AND 4-10

These key axes in the chart interpretation refer to the intimate structure of the personality

The axe 1-7 : is about the Subject

- ◆ Me towards myself (First House)
- ◆ Me towards the outside world (Seventh House)

The axe 4-10 : is about the people around the Subject

- ◆ Family environment (Fourth House)
- ◆ Social environment (Tenth House)

ANALYSIS HOUSES 1-7

The first house gives us information about the personality and the will, and also about the body, its constitution and heredity. It partially determines the character.

The seventh house is about associations, marriage, contracts and relationships (associative and social life, fashionable circles, ...).

ANALYSIS HOUSES 4-10

The fourth house is related to the family, the home, places of residence, property, real estate, and the area where you live.

The tenth house or Medium Coeli (M.C.) deals with the profession, honours and power. It represents destiny and career.

CHARACTER ANALYSIS FIRST HOUSE

Solar Sign and Ascendant : Piscis - Cancer

You are of an "aquatic" disposition that is subject to irrationalism and sensations. You are sensitive to atmospheres, and live in an evasive world rooted in dreams that make you a "nostalgic" of the past. Your imagination is powerful, fertile and very often wild: we can see an extension of the childlike side of your personality into adult age. Your extreme sensitiveness is not always apparent, yet emotional bonds play a key role in your destiny (extreme receptiveness of your psyche, profound inner world, emotionality, touchiness). Your will is generally weak; you let yourself be pushed around by events (passiveness). Your evasion of reality leads you to pursue an illusion, sometimes an idle fancy.

Moon Master of House 01

You are romantic, imaginative and emotional, and... a dreamer! You are endowed with great intuition and are good at starting up numerous relationships that can earn you a certain popularity. Besides, you are particularly talented for art. Your mother's influence is generally quite important, which allows you to have good relationships with women in general. Your family life should be pleasant and reassuring. You are shy and changeable, and you could leave on a sudden impulse. Nevertheless, your lack of will should be a warning sign against too big an influence of your loved ones.

Sun - Moon : Piscis - Sagitarius

The scope of your awareness is broad and your desire for expansion doesn't know any limit. This is truly a disproportioned association of dream and ideals. You have high philosophical aspirations, which leads to the blossoming of your personality (nobility of soul). You have a particularly developed humanitarian sense: your sensitiveness and emotionality react to the smallest signs of suffering or injustice (great understanding towards others). Your intelligence is flexible and you feel things more than you understand them (fast learner). Don't look here for order or logic, for rigour or critical sense: everything is based on intuition, analogies, correspondences (brilliant ideas that are not always exploited). You are tolerant and hospitable, you lack neither generosity nor indulgence, and you preach first and foremost "the policy of friendship"!

RELATIONSHIPS SEVENTH HOUSE

Mars Capricorn in House 07:

You are first and foremost looking for frank and direct relationships marked with a certain spontaneity. In your contacts with others, you don't lose any time: you go straight to the point. This drives you to establish a climate of "aggressiveness" and competition in your relationships (good or bad, depending on the aspects). You are great at encouraging others and leading them onto the path that you have chosen, you even succeed in making them surpass themselves. This position indicates a parallel between marriage and associations. You are looking for a partner (whether spouse or associate) who is active and dynamic but also authoritarian and impulsive. If you channel your aggressiveness in a positive direction, you can expect an enriching marriage and/or fruitful associations; indeed, you would feel backed up, sometimes even carried. Otherwise, you are likely to go through a lot of conflicts with your spouse or associate, who could turn out to be tyrannous and try to control you. Whatever the case may be, you would be well-advised to take counsel with a man of law to verify all the clauses of any contract you would want to sign, especially in the case of associations.

FAMILY FORTH HOUSE

Mercury Master of House 04

Your parents have a young outlook and the education they gave you carries a great significance in your destiny (good intellectual and cultural heredity). Whatever your background is, you were taught early how to stand on your own and adapt to all types of situations. Your relationships with siblings are particularly favoured with this position, and you are probably very attached emotionally to one of them (twin type of emotional bond). You are not very homebound, but that probably comes from frequent moves and trips during your childhood. This position often indicates an early start for a home and family with children. Bad aspects to Mercury might indicate unstable parents, as well as significant changes in your family (break-up...). You are interested in drawing, architecture and everything that has to do with real estate (purchases, sales, or transactions). The first part of your life generally involves a lot of evenings out and parties. Later, your family life can unfold in a more peaceful setting, maybe with intellectual or artistic activities.

PROFESSIONAL LIFE TENTH HOUSE

First, we are going to examine the signs on the cusps of Houses 6 and 10, i.e. Sagittarius - Pisces

You have the soul of a traveller seeking boundless and unlimited spaces. You will most likely be attracted to foreign countries and travelling, because you like changes and want to have access to an "elsewhere" (need to escape). You see "big", yet your means to get there are not always up to your ambition (sometimes immoderate!). You are a good theoretician, and you know how to suggest, project and consider... but you should leave it up to others to lead, organize, and realize. You are independent, and it would be good to find around you somebody who supervises and controls your initiatives. You like to serve others, but make sure you don't revel in mediocre situations that are below your means: it would be a pity! Luck and support are generally on your side, don't abuse them! Will you be able to live up to your dreams or ideals? Are you Tartarin of Tarascon or Lindberg?

Mercury Aries in House 10:

On the professional level, communication, movement (trips), and speed, are meant to play an important part. You adapt remarkably well to all situations, and freedom of action and initiative are the necessary elements allowing you to do that. Besides, you are capable of wearing more than one hat (two jobs) and your reactions are quick and spontaneous (mobility in action). However, the energy you expend, whether in multiple realizations or in the launching of new projects, is likely to be wasted if you don't set a precise plan of action for yourself. You have a fighting spirit and are eager for progress, and you are above all an innovator. You are probably ill at ease in positions that are too sedentary. Professional changes are to be expected and sometimes good for you, only as long as you haven't found your true vocation. The key word: short term! Spheres of activity to consider include: communication (in the broadest meaning of the word), media, etc.

Venus Aries in House 10:

The human factor and everything that exalts feelings would particularly suit you. Same thing with professions that have a social character (help to others), are related to a clientèle, or involve an idea of balance, justice, equality, or even a sense of beauty. Your enthusiasm can be used in "diplomacy" (refinement in negotiations) or conciliation (arbitration). Your desire to be open mostly urges you to look for partners, associates and strong support: their role in your destiny is likely to be dominant. Though you are dynamic and possess a fighting spirit, the alternation of impulses and hesitations could be a source of tensions in your life.

Saturn Aries in House 10:

The moral strength you are endowed with, leads you to take long-term actions, sustained with considerable work power and solid resistance. You are persistent and determined to rise socially or come to power. You have an enterprising mind and taste for responsibilities set on concrete realizations. You lack neither practical sense nor carefulness. You could excel in all fields related to practical things, organization, discipline, administration and management. Same thing with professions requiring initiative or a certain courage, but also patience and experience. Favourable lines of endeavour include: the corporate world, administration, industry, construction, sciences, the army, politics, or provident societies.

Sun Piscis in House 10:

More so than anyone else, you feel a need to be held in esteem and admired or to occupy a prominent position. Stable situations suit you particularly well, because they help you develop self-confidence and allow you to show your worth (e.g. intellectually). For you, success can be financial; you have Lady Luck on your side, when you don't abuse it. You are likely to have an exceptional intuition. You are somewhat of a "visionary" and very few people are capable of seeing the new perspectives you are portraying. Your initiatives always lead to fairly sizeable realizations (genius or delusions of grandeur?). Within a company, sharing the same views regarding objectives and ideas, will be critically important to you. Creation, art, education, and entertainment, are favourable fields for your imagination.

Sun Conjunction Mercury

Professionally, you have many strings to your bow, which gives you many options. The common denominator to all is the necessity to communicate and go towards others or attract them to you. You are generally interested in more than one thing at a time, and you are likely not to specialize in any one direction so that you keep an open and varied choice. Psychology, travelling, public relations, teaching, trade, and generally speaking anything that requires a great capacity to adapt and exchange, are particularly favoured. Even in particularly difficult times, you manage to keep a certain balance thanks to your humour and innate know-how.

Mercury Conjunction Saturn

Professionally, you are appreciated for your ability to carry out tasks with great accuracy and method. You generally work on projects with great care and regularity, not leaving anything up to chance: everything is classified and filed. You only make decisions after thoughtful consideration and your choices are consistent. Your ambition is powerful, but you show great patience and "sparingness" in trying to fulfil it. You are set on concrete realizations. You are made to analyze, observe, measure, calculate and research. Manual skill is not excluded, it applies to fields of endeavour requiring precision and a certain perfection. You are conscientious and know where your duty is: you take your responsibilities. Yet, you might know some difficulties in communicating with others or show off your qualities to advantage. Some of your occupations could be related to administration, economics, management, organization, architecture and drawing, history, archives, financial or real estate transactions, ground development,...

FIXED AXES ANALYSIS : HOUSES 2-8 AND 5-11

These two axes refer to your Assets, what you Possess:

- ◆ Material assets for the axis 2-8
- ◆ Emotional assets for the axis 5-11

ANALYSIS HOUSES 2-8

The second house rules finances: the sources of income, possessions, budget, and material acquisitions.

The eighth house rules other people's money, inheritances, sexuality, mystery, the invisible, crises, and the way you envision death.

ANALYSIS HOUSES 5-11

The fifth house gives us information about love relationships, pleasure, leisure, and also children and creativity.

The eleventh house is related to friendship, projects and hopes.

FINANCES SECOND HOUSE

Moon Master of House 02

You were born under a lucky star. You are active and clever, which brings in a lot of gains. Your mother and women in general are likely to support you in money matters or help you with your vocation. You are neither indifferent to a certain comfort at home nor to luxury. You are continually searching for material security, and you have an acute sense of property. This mostly drives you to invest in real estate, mainly in traditional and "blue chip" values. With this position, there is a link between money, family and home. This link can either be an inheritance or a legacy related to your estate, a piece of land, or the significant purchase of a house of special meaning to you. Some of your financial success will depend on the contacts you manage to establish or on various sources of income. Bad aspects would indicate financial instability: in that case, you will have to use foresight and avoid squandering. The share of your budget that covers family charges and lodgings can be fairly heavy. Through your occupation, you could be in contact with the crowd or the general public (food business, drinking establishment, representative, salesman,...). Any job requiring a certain mobility is recommended to you (night jobs, 3x8, various part-time or seasonal jobs).

FINANCES EIGHTH HOUSE

Saturn Master of House 08

With good aspects, this position indicates considerable real-estate possessions due to numerous inheritances or regular savings. But most of the time, it means trials with inheritances and losses of money through bad investments. Your relationships with the tax authorities and insurances are not particularly excellent. It is advisable to check very carefully all financial clauses of contracts and to resort to loans as seldom as possible. Your wife is generally thrifty and can back you up during hard times. You are reserved and discreet in your sex life and you tend to treat that area of your life with seriousness (if not coldness). Somehow, you are under the influence of a block, either due to a very disappointing experience or because you think you are not attractive enough, or else out of sheer disinterest or lack of desire. Sexual fulfilment can come late in life, and in that case, you might want to make up for lost time... Keep in mind that sexuality does not necessarily go hand in hand with suffering, so don't hold back your desires under the pretence of moral reasons (there is something of the animal in us, don't forget it...).

LOVE LIFE – ROMANTIC PROFILE

You are cheerful and warm-hearted by nature and enjoy trustful relationships with people around you. You can't stand being inactive and feel a strong need to share your enthusiasm. You have a keen interest in human and social matters. You are straightforward in your relationships and spontaneously express your feelings. Your ideal partner will be generous and active. She will be a woman of high principles. You are looking for stability, in a sincere and deep relationship based on mutual trust. Your union is deeply attuned with the world and its laws. It should also allow you to look ahead with serenity. Travels and foreign countries could play a major part in your love life.

Your sensitiveness is almost feminine (which means too acute for a man) and you strongly need relationships based on devotion and understanding. Though you are able to cope with daily issues and worries, they are likely to slow down your growth in life. Your chart indicates a lifemate who is efficient, has practical sense and is also a good handywoman. She is also able to unburden you of certain obligations. However, it is very important that you don't unconsciously establish a master - servant relationship. Imposed concessions kill love!

Your impulsiveness in romance might cause you to experience sometimes violent relationships, or at least, interaction that is harmful to emotional stability. Most often, you attract dynamic women, the sports type, maybe a little forthright psychologically and even physically (but that is another story!). You must confess that you are not yourself a model of delicacy and gentleness. We highly recommend that you do not rush head first into couple life (official or not)... but are you capable of following this type of advice?

You are very appreciated by women. Your numerous friendly relationships will probably help you get a pleasant career. You are ambitious in romance, and you are likely to conclude a brilliant union that elevates you socially. You expect your partner to have stable and deep feelings, a lot of faithfulness and perseverance (tendency to want to be babied). In some cases, your discovery of love will be related to your professional environment.

FEELINGS FIFTH HOUSE

Venus Master of House 05

You are a sentimentalist who lives love intensely. You like tender relationships, tinged with a certain romanticism. Venus (the goddess of love) is particularly well placed in this House of emotional life. It brings you a lot of luck and allows you to be attractive to others. You are sensitive to beauty, aesthetics, and grace. You know all about how to be attractive, and you are somewhat of a genius of elegance. You constantly want to please and be in the limelight, but not so much to conquer as to make yourself amiable. Love and entertainment are linked; you need to express your great warm-heartedness outwardly. You like to go out, but also to receive, because you can't stand loneliness. This need to be liked and please others generally hides certain weaknesses, and it could get you involved in affairs. Your emotional life feeds on sensuality, you have pleasure from your senses and the sense of pleasure (lack of moderation with bad aspects). Whatever the case, your emotional life will generally be happy and very busy, because you have an essential need to love and share your feelings. Venus in this House endows you with a sure taste, good artistic talents, and a full and entertaining life in society. You generally choose your wife based on criteria of beauty, and sometimes, your encounter happens during a holiday, leisure time or artistic activities. All relationships with the world of show-business are favourable to you. In the same way, you should try your luck at games of chance (especially with good aspects).

FRIENDSHIP ELEVENTH HOUSE

Neptun Taurus in House 11:

You are a nice person, and you show a lot of understanding towards people in general, so, many of your friends come to you to confide their most intimate secrets. However, by being too soft, you run the risk of making a few enemies. You are likely to establish numerous relationships within a group, party or association. Among your friends, you have refined individuals, artists or intellectuals. Your friendships always bear a part of strangeness, combining sensations with some spiritual identity or shared ideals. Besides, you are devoted and capable of sacrifice in order to help others. Your projects could come to successful completion thanks to fortunate circumstances or confidential support. Bad aspects apply to durable relationships and cause misunderstandings, slander, breaches of trust, or secret love affairs.

Pluto Taurus in House 11:

In society, you immediately spot the people with whom you could get along. You are rather cautious and reserved towards others, and you don't confide in anybody until you know them better. You are a true and devoted friend, but you can turn into a fearsome enemy if your confidence is abused. You foster secret and confidential friendships, which doesn't exclude relationships with people involved in more or less shady activities (independent friends for whom truth, justice, passion, hidden energies or mystery play a part). Generally, your projects are not very well adapted and they undergo complete transformations. This position brings together sexuality and friendship, sometimes outside of any moral consideration. Your idea of friendship could be put through the mill, which will urge you to be very selective in the choice of new friends. You could be deeply affected by the loss or departure of a faithful friend.

MUTABLE AXES ANALYSIS : HOUSES 3-9 AND 6-12

These are the two axes of Growth

- ◆ Through Knowledge for the axis 3-9
- ◆ Through Hardship for the axis 6-12

ANALYSIS HOUSES 3-9

The third house defines the practical mind, intelligence, trips, communication, and the people around you (siblings, cousins, neighbours ...).

The ninth house defines our morals, and the mental and philosophical level. It gives us information about the qualities of our mind and spirit, but also about our relationship to foreign countries and travels.

ANALYSIS HOUSES 6-12

The sixth house bears a character of service and obligations on the professional level. It gives information about the hygiene of life and health.

The twelfth house takes into account the enemies and hardships you might have to face. It also indicates the spheres of activity where our freedom of action is limited.

INTELLIGENCE – PRATICAL SENCE THIRD HOUSE

Urano Virgo in House 03:

You have an original personality, and you are a cerebral type who is very knowledgeable with things and people. You are a true idealist. You are open to the outside world through your desire to communicate and help human thought progress. Intellectually, you are generally efficient and your knowledge is widespread and varied. You understand things quickly when and if you are strongly interested in, have intuitions about or are inspired by the subject, which then makes you extremely clever. You always stay at the leading edge of progress, and are interested in new technologies and recent discoveries. You don't easily adjust to the school system (even if you are supergifted) and very often this position indicates self-teaching. Studies applying to new activities and modern means of transportation are recommended (communication, electronics, computer science, media, electricity, aircraft, automobile,...). All your life, you will be interested in writings and new techniques and theories. The originality of your ideas could cause difficulties in your interaction with people around you. You are able to establish relationships quickly, but break-ups are just as abrupt. You are likely to have to move a lot and use modern means of communication frequently (telephone, telex,...).

MENTAL LEVEL – MORALS NINTH HOUSE

Jupiter Aquarius in House 09

You have ideals inspired by a certain joy in life! You are sociable and become perfectly integrated into the life of the community by abiding by the established rules and habits. You are also an idealist who attaches a lot of importance to spiritual life and philosophy. Your idea of justice is strongly tinged with tolerance and you naturally respect other people's opinions. Morally and intellectually you have the soul of a great traveller or adventurer looking for exoticism and the unknown. You are hungry for freedom of movement and open air. You are drawn to philosophy and sciences that rely on imagination. You have a synthetical mind and your culture is widespread in general; you coordinate your knowledge methodically, which makes you good at teaching. With this position, your abilities to complete long studies are strongly emphasized: it would be too bad not to take advantage of them. Your beliefs regarding politics and religion are deep-rooted. But this position cancels the bad effects of fanaticism and keeps you within legal bounds. You should attach a special importance to travels (sometimes figurative) and to foreign countries, because their influence can weigh heavily on your destiny. All trips, contacts and transactions with the outside world enrich you both morally and materially.

HEALTH - OBLIGATIONS SIXTH HOUSE

Moon Sagitarius in House 06

Your sensitiveness and emotional life are directly related to your health. You know how to "spare yourself", yet you worry a lot about your health and feel a continual need to follow a treatment (weaknesses inherited from your mother or psychosomatic illnesses that do not impair your life expectancy). When you are tired, you feel depressed, and it is essential that you get good sleep (more so than for most people). Physically, your weak point could be your stomach, or your lymphatic system. It is very beneficial for you to eat light and balanced meals in a relaxed atmosphere and to drink a lot of water. Try to avoid all food excesses (bulimia related to your morale): indeed, diets have a harmful influence on your psychological condition. The sea, spas and iodine (which activates your thyroid gland and helps in the process of cell renewal) are recommended to you. You love domestic animals. Bad aspects indicate a lot of female jealousies and sometimes excessive use of medicines.

HEALTH - LIMITATIONS TWELFTH HOUSE

Mercury Master of House 12

You are sensitive to the many pressures of the outside world. Your emotional and nervous disposition can make your psyche vulnerable and unstable. You don't always think positively: you are often worried and distrustful (sometimes rightly so). Yet, you have to open yourself, communicate with others, and learn to exchange and establish a dialogue, however difficult that may be. Most of the time, your intellectual abilities remain unused (underrated) or spread thin (too superficial interest in many fields). You are keenly interested in the world of the abstract and the unknown (medicine, psychiatry, bacteriology, police, occultism,...), but also in people who have had to go through a hardship (hospitals, retirement homes, prisons,...). You could have trouble with somebody close to you, either because of dishonesty, or theft, or lies (indication of a hidden enemy). This position sometimes indicates a trauma that happened during your teenage years or involving your brothers and sisters (with bad aspects). However, you can expect financial rewards.
