GENERAL INTRODUCTION

An astrological Professional Chart! What for? Our purpose is not to convince you without a discussion.

We have practised astrology for many years, and we can only acknowledge and confirm its relevance in the acquisition of a better knowledge of human beings.

During our consultations, we have tried the following experiment: based solely on the dates and hours of birth of our consultants, we have tried to determine their professions.

We won't try to claim that we succeeded systematically, far from it. However, in most cases our forecasts pointed out professions that were attractive to the consultant or even frustrated vocations.

In view of the importance of work in our lives on a daily basis, we would like to ask you: how much time did you spend on choosing your profession? What means did you give yourself (or were you given) in order to determine what profession to choose?

Some people object that they didn't have a choice or the means: we reply that it is a non-issue, because you can always change direction. There is always a solution; all you have to do is establish on one hand your abilities, what you are interested in (what you want or like to do), and on the other hand your weaknesses and defects (what you don't want or don't like to do).

If you take the time to give it some thought, you will easily come up with a synthesis and thus reveal a number of professions that are possible and suited to your particular situation.

The current evolution of society leads us to predict that every individual will be driven to practise an average of five different professions in the course of their lives.

Our purpose is simple: we want to give you food for thought ...

FIRST PART

With the help of a table, we will try to establish your basic abilities and your deficiencies or shortcomings. This table will come with a first set of overall comments that are meant to define the main traits of your personality.

MID LEVEL

Missing

In the dictionary of your soul, the following words are missing: balance, diplomacy, and compromise! Your somewhat offhand attitudes and cut and dried opinions are likely to cause a few problems in your relationships in general. Do you always have to shock or be disagreeable in order to feel you are yourself?

Exces

You clearly have an extreme tendency to invest yourself in concrete, visible and touchable realizations. You show a great interest in the material aspect of life, to the point that you are sometimes much too "down-to-earth". You have the necessary potential to develop a business, consolidate and increase your belongings, but try to avoid routine and possessiveness.

SECOND PART

Planetary Strengths Analysis

We will now review the analysis of your psychological dominant characteristic, as well as its expression in daily life. This combination alone will give precious indications regarding your personality, tastes and natural tendencies.

That is why we recommend that you read the following paragraph with a lot of attention.

What an optimism! What a joy in life! This position is lucky on the whole. Your character is generally happy and abounds in outward qualities: cheerfulness, friendliness and courtesy. Your views are broad, and you accept concessions in order to bring harmony to your relationships with others. You apply yourself to reconcile, reunite and arbitrate fairly for the well-being of all (great diplomacy). Nevertheless, your taste for an easy and pleasant life tends to make you passive and urges you to look for an effortless life and the easy way out. Beware, because this passiveness can quickly lead to indifference and a form of selfishness.

You are capable of putting your knowledge at other people's disposal. You seem to be drawing some advantage from associations and collaborations: you get certain satisfactions from team work, thanks to your numerous connections. Your professional opportunities are many; you can give advice (finances, law, taxes, marriage, public relations...) or even have a leader's role in certain disciplines (teaching, art, decoration, beauty, personal care...). In all cases, your profession will aim at promoting (for example with a wealthy clientèle), fine-tuning, or restoring balance. Relationships with foreign countries regarding business or contracts could be particularly successful.

ASCENDANT ANALYSIS

We are now going to start your character analysis and the study of your personality (the Self) . This analysis covers essentially the way you behave with others and, as a result, the way others see you.

General Trend

You are excessive and generally a follower of the "All or Nothing" theory. You know you are not like everyone else. You are very magnetic and vibrant. You expend so much energy to refuse the ordinary, the trivial, the mediocre, that you often end up really causing certain events to happen. That is precisely your magical side, this sun-volcano on the verge of creation and destruction, of Birth and Death. You have something of the animal in you, but a mythical one, a symbol of great natural energies that are beyond our grasp and fascinate us. Very often, you feel these forces boiling in you, these games of darkness and blinding light, but you cannot always keep them in control. However, if you really set your mind to it, you are capable of great things, because you know how to invest yourself totally into what motivates or fascinates you (die to live!). This never happens without a certain pride, but it is the pride of overcoming, of the access to a rebirth. Like the hero who sacrifices himself in his creation (beyond these grand words, see the psychological reality).

Specific Tendencies

You have a strong personality, which gives you the means to achieve success. You are whole-hearted, wilful, active, generous and endowed with a certain magnanimity. You have both self-confidence and other people's confidence. Your goal is to reach high summits, so you focus all your power towards that purpose. You are very likely to rise socially and have access to high-rank circles, thereby gaining a certain notoriety. You sometimes aim at personal success to the detriment of those around you.

You possess a contradictory personality, torn between a warm-hearted, relaxed and sociable behaviour and a fiery desire for independence, which are rather hard to match! You are authoritarian and endowed with a certain magnetism, a firm yet flexible will that knows how to combine realism and idealism, opportunism and need to dominate. You are quite skilled in finding the weak points in others, the hidden mechanisms of their personalities. Since independence lies at the basis of your character, the reason behind your actions will generally be a fight or struggle (lack of discipline, protest, rebellion), or a tremendous need to live and burn your energy. It would be a good idea for you to set precise goals, because what you need above all, is focus.

MIDHEAVEN ANALYSIS

Let us examine what your real motivations are and your possible vocations. That will give us information regarding your goals and high aspirations, your level of dynamism and energy, and your interests and passions. In short we will say: "What I want to do".

General Trend

The moral strength you are endowed with, leads you to take long-term actions, sustained with considerable work power and solid resistance. You are persistent and determined to rise socially or come to power. You have an enterprising mind and taste for responsibilities set on concrete realizations. You lack neither practical sense nor carefulness. You could excel in all fields related to practical things, organization, discipline, administration and management. Same thing with professions requiring initiative or a certain courage, but also patience and experience. Favourable lines of endeavour include: the corporate world, administration, industry, construction, sciences, the army, politics, or provident societies.

Specific Tendencies

You definitely know how to fight, and your courage and persistence can be remarkable when you are driven by your ideals or strong will to reform and progress. Then, you commit your whole life, your time, and your means! But you will have to learn how to relativize your dramatic tendencies, you believe in them too much! You don't lack strength of character, on the contrary, but try not to be excessive. Channel your powerful instincts, use them towards constructive and worthy objectives, you will get very far. Use your thirst for power and possessions as a driving force, without becoming enslaved to it. Recommended fields of endeavour include: banking, trade, tax department, notary, architecture, fine art, singing, police, scientific research...

Let us hope that fantasy and a wind of freedom succeed in opening a few doors for you: indeed, despite all the comfort you live in, people would be bored sitting at your generously laid-out table. You are firm and positive, and more so than most people, you need to express your varied knowledge and competence through concrete realizations. You are quite naturally driven to detect the profitable and pleasant side of people or things, which drives you to engage in profitable, lucrative, and well-organized activities. Favourable lines of endeavour include: horses, agronomics, import-export, economics, teaching, medicine,...

You should put your acute sense of responsibilities to good use by channelling it into a deep personal commitment. You are concrete and determined. It's alright for you to set middle- and long-term goals, because your methods have been proven and they are a good guarantee for success. Keep in mind that, contrary to what happens with most people today, your main ally is Time... Favourable spheres of activity are: agriculture, architecture, wholesale, banking, natural materials (leathers, wood, ores...), art...

You are endowed with a great emotionality and feel the need to be reassured. That is why stable and reassuring professions would particularly suit you. A climate of confidence and good feelings in your work environment will be favourable to develop your sense of devotion and unlimited faithfulness. Your human qualities could lead you to activities of a social character, work with charity organizations, or concrete realizations serving others. You are endowed with intuition and even a "sixth sense" regarding finances and money, or business deals (but beware of illusion). You are sensitive to beauty, and aesthetics and art could play a part in your profession.

You are a passionate believer in trust and hope, and your professional choice is generally guided by your enthusiasm and desire for expansion (good-size deals, big companies). You are clever, you don't try to impose yourself on others (not competition-driven), and you prefer to operate gently, relying on your sense of opportunity and power of persuasion. It is essential to you to have faith in a project, company or boss; then, barriers and limitations disappear (and your dream can become reality). Your main qualities are intuition, inspiration, and the accurate perception of the big picture: you like neither taking care of details nor making sustained efforts. Professions resulting from a need to escape through knowledge (teaching), travelling (to foreign countries), or requiring humanitarian feelings (for example, medical vocations, or service to a community) can all be beneficial.

You are very ambitious and you seek power and leadership (sometimes through roundabout means). Your temperament is powerful and you have an innate trust in your "mission", which gives you boldness and a fighting spirit. You possess a strong will to succeed, and the desire to assert yourself, even to surpass yourself. Your powerful creativity combined with a certain perfectionism drive you towards reform activities (to transform, restructure, guide, direct...). Self-employment seems to suit you particularly well, whether it is related to capitals (notary, taxes, insurances, credit agencies) or even knowledge (justice, research, medicine, teaching). The unknown, the invisible, space, what is underground, or foreign countries, can play a part in your professional choice.

You are very sensitive both to criticism and encouragement, and you are capable of giving your best without complaining. In the same way, you react passively and with apathy, if you are not motivated. Generally, you express your motivation through ideals that you try to apply and make concrete, for example by devoting yourself to obscure tasks in the service of others. You are capable of sustained efforts and you can take on long research (organization and rigour). Relying on your intuition, you will be tempted to go from theory to practice, to prospect, detect, and test unexplored fields of activity. Your action will sometimes drive you to lead a community or social group (activities of a humanitarian nature). Favoured fields of endeavour include: administration, local communities, chemistry (water, gas, oil, synthetical products), health, laboratory work, civil engineering, hydraulics, photography, unionism,...

SUN AND MARS DELINEATIONS

The study that follows deals with professional skills and abilities. It gives us precious indications regarding your relationships with people in your professional environment (colleagues, boss, people reporting to us ...), but also about the profession that we could accept, outside of our vocation.

In short, we will say: "What I can do".

The main thing for you is to channel your thirst for transformation, overcoming, and even reform. Learn to admit that destroying only makes sense in the perspective of a reconstruction or renewal. There are numerous paths in front of you, so in order for you to express your somewhat excessive energies through an activity, let us mention: property development, restoration of old things, medical specialization (gynaecology, endocrinology, etc.), notary, tax department, surveillance companies, compulsory liquidation...

Your intuition and inspiration lead you to the power of imagination, or even to a totally imaginary world. Dreams overwhelm you and go far beyond reality. You are gifted for perceiving, grasping, or expressing the collective unconscious of an audience or crowd. This pre-eminence of the unconscious opens large prospects on the professional level, among others humanly speaking. Very often, you are concerned with solving problems related to man (therapies, public or local responsibilities based on devotion) or even with settling material issues (related to an audience, a clientèle, family, lodgings, property...). More so than for other people, there is an absolute necessity for you to "have faith", to believe in or adhere to a community, or the group made of the people working in your company.
