GENERAL INTRODUCTION

The system we have chosen to establish your annual predictions is that of the solar revolutions. We call REVOLUTION the time in which a star or planet revolves around the sun or the earth:

1 Year for the Sun	12 Years for Jupiter
27 Days for the Moon	29 Years for Saturn
3 Months for Mercury	84 Years for Urano
8 Months for Venus	163 Years for Neptun
23 Months for Mars	250 Years for Pluto

The solar revolution then corresponds to the idea of birthday, which indicates the exact return of the SUN to its natal place.

This particular moment marks the starting point of a new cycle for everyone, combined however with the planetary rhythms to which we are the most sensitive.

The analysis you entrusted us with is based on the relationships between the NATAL CHART and the "BIRTHDAY" CHART. It contains two parts :

- ◆ The first part deals with the two special points in the birthday chart which are the Ascendant and the Midheaven. These two points will indicate the year's general climate and focus on the important facts.
- ◆ The second part has been split up into six sections that correspond to the axes of the Astrological Houses (e.g.: section 2 deals with finances, section 3 with moving around and travelling, etc.).

A text of "MAIN TREND" is attached to each section, it defines the "atmosphere", the general tendency. Besides, we have included specific tendencies related to the presence of the planets in each section.

These specific tendencies are very important because they enable us to determine the positive or negative interpretation that should be given to each section. Besides, a section containing several planets should get special attention.

A few words, however, before you start reading your annual predictions: Astrology does not convey a fatalistic view of life, on the contrary, it teaches us that nothing is irreversible. That is why, if negative aspects appear in this analysis, you should use them to think better and thereby avoid the trouble you might get into ("forewarned is forearmed").

ASCENDANT AND THE MIDHEAVEN

*This first part defines your general state of mind for the year.
It also describes your aspirations on the social level.*

ASC VIRGO

This solar revolution will be marked psychologically with the control of reason over instinct. You will develop your mental abilities and apply yourself to know and understand better: however, your cleverness will be limited to what is material and concrete. You will act more regularly and methodically and your field of action will not be very widespread: take advantage of this time to settle all questions of details and organization. Your emotional life will be more reserved (sense of decency), and you will hold back your impulses. You will feel bound to certain obligations leading you to serve others (obligingness, devotion). In order to offset a possible slow down of energy, you will need quiet and tranquillity if you want to keep your balance. Questions related to work or health will particularly be a cause of concern this year.

MH TAURUS

On the other hand, material choices will take up a lot of your time professionally. You will aim at stabilizing and solidifying your situation. You will be cautious regarding decisions (changes are not likely), and will carry all undertakings through to completion with obstinacy and strength. You are painstaking and regular, though maybe a little slow, and your main qualities will apply to organization, management, as well as various types of deals (commercial, financial, real estate, and also artistic and cultural). This year will indicate stable and sustained professional activities, generally coming out onto a certain financial wealth (factor of luck).

AXIS 1

This key section in the interpretation of the predictions conveys the general atmosphere of the year and indicates the fields in which you will particularly be interested. It gives us information about your behaviour in society, and about other people's attitudes towards you. Read the following texts carefully.

General Trend

You will be asserting your personality in broad daylight, by showing to advantage your power of action and decision. You will definitely show more free will and assertiveness. You will be prompted by a strong ambition that will urge you to fully commit yourself in professional activities. You will not hesitate to stake your reputation (credit, prestige) in order to carry your actions through to success. Your qualities, but also your defects, will thus be revealed, but it doesn't matter: the drive that spurs you on is irresistible. Your desires are clearly defined: what you need to do is materialize them. This year will prove to be a deciding one on the professional level, and you will take significant initiatives. Good influences will bring about increased responsibilities, a promotion, the starting up of a company or new business, or the development of a clientèle. Relationships with others will depend more than usual on the family, maybe on your taking part in local life. Questions regarding real estate (contracts, shared residence) but also a loved one's engagement (marriage), will be taken into account. There can also be contacts with the law for sharings out or successions. Backed up by your wife (if you are married), you will want to receive people and offer hospitality more often. Physically, you'll enjoy good stamina and a lot of energy.

Specific Tendencies - Axis 1

Mercury Master of House 01

On the whole, your abilities of understanding, expression, liveliness (also physical) and quick-wittedness, will appear more clearly. You will besides allow more room for humour and contacts with youths. Through a keener curiosity and eagerness for change, there will be a risk of spreading yourself thin, of doing your utmost without achieving any concrete or lasting result. Keep a watch on your nerves and chest.

Neptun Master of House 07

Harmony in your couple will depend more on the subtle affinities that bind you to your partner. She might indeed be turned more inwardly, and become elusive or malleable. Don't hesitate, if necessary, to bring her back to the realities of this world! Stay on your guard, because this period of time could bring about a lack of understanding and/or a process of "evasion". Also, be careful with contracts, commitments and possible new relationships.

AXIS 2

This section rules finances and possessions. It provides information about your material conditions and sources of income, and also about your expenses. It also indicates possible transformations on the psychological level and problems related to the unconscious or to sexuality.

General Trend

Material questions tend to prevail in your life and they modify to a great extent your private and professional environments. This can mean the setting-off of your abilities in the occupational context or extra activities, and an important raise in salary. Your new financial means can drive you into spending a fair amount of money in order to improve or transform your standard of living. As far as your family and real estate are concerned, there might be an unexpected event (inheritance, selling off a part of your patrimony or goods, legacies ..) that would completely change the present state of affairs and oblige you to reconsider some aspects of your life. Be aware that this wouldn't happen without any trouble or psychological difficulty. Besides, you could suffer some annoyances related to subsidiary business : income tax, insurances, refunds from the Social Security Office, pensions ... (the specific tendencies will indicate the positive or negative nature of this information). Physically, you will note a few glandular disorders that might temporarily affect your digestive system, sleep cycle and sexual activity.

Specific Tendencies - Axis 2

Sun Libra in House 02

You are promised certain material satisfactions, but they could go hand in hand with considerable expenditure, sometimes even exceeding your income ... You will be rather generous, but might lack some modesty. Professions related to banking, finances and real estate are particularly favoured.

Mars Libra in House 02

Physical strength, courage and stamina will constitute for you self-actualizing and rather reassuring elements. However, you should avoid using them as general criteria for judgement ... From a material point of view, you will be capable of additional work in order to earn more, but your expenses might follow too closely the curve of your impulses. Thus, you should necessarily make efforts to plan better if you want to keep your budget in balance.

Neptun Piscis in House 08

Without always realizing it, you will get more pervious to masses of weird impressions or indefinable sensations, which might result in a climate of doubt and insecurity. Don't reject this inner language up front, on the contrary, try to distinguish what is intuition from what is dream. Materially, you could have some problems with the tax authorities, insurances or administrations.

AXIS 3

This part deals with the intellect: practical mind, moral evolution and thought. It also provides information about your moving around and travelling, as well as questions of communication.

General Trend

This year, you will be particularly quick-witted and turned towards progress (up-to-date spirit). In particular, you will show more interest in modern means of communication and the media (video, computers ..). You will be more sociable and share your opinions more easily. You will have plenty of ideas for projects, which you will put forward frankly, and many opportunities to establish contacts. These relationships of all kinds generally involve influential connections who are likely to back you up when need be. You will mostly move around in group, with friends for instance. Indeed, your relationships with your friends will be more active and sometimes give rise to correspondence. Besides, you will seek out more pleasure in your life, while still giving the priority to feelings. Your loved ones will benefit from your open-mindedness and better understanding, as well as the climate of moral relaxation that you will establish. Your intellectual abilities will be significantly developed provided the studied subjects correspond to your personal tastes. A certain art of living and thinking will quite naturally urge you to grant a prominent place to evenings out, leisure and holidays. Travelling, and especially pleasure trips, seem to influence your emotional life.

Specific Tendencies - Axis 3

Moon Libra in House 03

A revival of curiosity, a keener eagerness for novelties and change, can make you absent-minded, superficial, changeable or talkative. Hold back your craving for knowing, understanding and feeling everything. You had better channel your energy to go deeper into existing relationships or more useful centres of interest. If you remain focused, you could draw a lot of intellectual or material advantages from this phase.

Mercury Libra in House 03

You are entering an intensive relationship phase. You will jump at any opportunity to make acquaintances or establish dialogues and exchanges. Now superficial, now brilliant, you will tend to do several things at the same time, to have a finger in every pie. You should learn concentration and silence in order to offset your tendencies towards fidgetiness and gossip. This is a favourable time for intellectual occupations and professions involving contacts.

Urano Taurus in House 09

Having in mind some progress or avant-gardism, you could incur the risk of being too assertive or even utopian in your opinions or intuitions. Do experiment, but remain lucid and modest, and you will then discover interesting things in matters you are a passion with. In most cases, there will be a transformation or renewal, either intellectual (services, training courses ...) or spiritual (trip, introduction to a philosophy ...).

AXIS 4

This more complex section deals both with family life and socio-professional life. It contains the elements influencing your private and public life. It is also one of the key sections in the annual interpretation.

General Trend

Questions of real estate or family will impose themselves upon you. The expression of your personality will be subject to the increasing influence of your loved ones. In fact, there could be a greater interdependence: your actions will have direct repercussions on your family, who will constrain you in return to fulfil certain moral obligations. This period, which will possibly indicate the end of a cycle, will inspire you with melancholy feelings and a certain nostalgia (some images from the past could re-emerge in your memory). You will get proposals of real estate transactions in the course of the year, some of them being related to your estate or place of residence. In the professional field, you will be more open to the outside world. Your social life and society contacts will give you opportunities to establish numerous relationships. This year, your success seems to be connected with the signature of a contract, the development of a clientèle, and more generally, a new relationship. Your profession will allow you to get new contacts in administrative, associative, corporative or juridical circles (occupations depending on these environments will be particularly favoured). Team work will not be excluded: your wife or an associate might take part in it (they will strongly influence your social and professional situation).

Specific Tendencies - Axis 4

Venus Scorpio in House 04

You will aim at stabilizing certain emotional bonds and creating around you a climate of comfort, well-being and a certain gentle way of life, yet with a risk of idleness or too much concern about easy living. All this can result in a more refined living environment, receptions, and invitations to affectionate people. Certain memories, the past, or a certain romanticism will have a special significance.

Venus Master of House 10

On the whole, emotional and aesthetical considerations will influence your professional activities or your decisions. This will be even clearer if you are related to an artistic or social context or craft industry, in which cases you will enjoy a rather favourable trend.

AXIS 5

This part deals with your idea of pleasure and relaxation. It rules friendship and emotional issues (love affairs, children ..), and also leisure and holidays. It indicates projects and hopes, as well as creations.

General Trend

Psychologically, you will not remain insensitive to the appeal of money, especially insofar as it gives you access to the pursuit of pleasure. On the whole, you will be inclined to enjoy your wealth (or simply your income) and introduce some fantasy in the "serious" aspects of Finance. Combined with a taste for gambling, this attitude can result in expensive holiday, speculations on the Stock Market or evenings at the casino (with maybe one major "chance"). If you are a creator, you might be lucky enough to realize a work of worth or financially viable. Don't exclude the possibility of a connection between your emotional life (love, children) and material interests. You will keep a veil of mystery and discretion as to your plans and friendships, especially if these fields are subject to a deep calling into question and become a source of uncertainty or ambiguity (various obstacles to your purposes, "dark" relationships, friendship that is not devoid of sexual desire, etc.). You will have the opportunity to establish certain bonds quite unexpectedly or in a strange way; they will be based on a psychic and magnetic attraction that is difficult to define but will give you powerful sensations. Some cautiousness is recommended in that case.

Specific Tendencies - Axis 5

Pluto Capricorn in House 05

Your emotional energy will be powerful, and your relationships will be tinged with intensity and passion. Your love life might go through a deep evolution; most of the time, things will be difficult because of a lack of control, which tends to give free rein to your deepest instincts. Night life will be emphasized (evening receptions, shows, evenings out ..). As far as gambling and speculation are concerned, you are likely to enjoy taking risks: both gains and losses could be considerable, so be careful.

Moon Master of House 11

Prompted by your eagerness for understanding, security and tenderness, you will feel the urge to establish quite spontaneously certain relations of friendship; however, you would be well-advised not to create a confidential or intimate climate before you are sure of the reliability of the established relationships. Indeed, you will not be shielded from some disappointment. Remain objective as to your plans.

AXIS 6

These areas present an aspect of service and obligation, and indicate the fields in which our freedom of action is restricted. It is related to health, hygiene and everyday work.

It also focuses on the difficulties that might turn up, possible enemies ...

General Trend

You will feel some kind of block or constraint in your dialogue, communication and understanding, especially towards certain people close to you: a lack of affinities or one complex or the other will probably be the major cause. Professionally, the spirit of participation, mutual aid and the will to communicate will be essential and probably bring about some variety, a break in the humdrum routine of work structures and habits. More concretely, you should expect some hindrances or delays (strikes, breakdowns, traffic jams ...) during trips or in your contacts (mail, telephone ..). If possible, you should foresee sufficient margins of time or alternative solutions. Mentally, unless you are the very model of wisdom and philosophy, you will find it difficult to remain optimistic and serene. Some unuttered question or secret worry puts you in a turmoil deep inside and might unbalance you, especially if you turn it over and over in your mind! Confronted with your own moral narrow-mindedness or negative ideas, you have to choose between a more intense "blindness" or a painful transcending that would do you good ... Regarding your health, note your dependence on your nervous and psychological state. A relaxation technique or respiratory method (yoga ...) can sometimes be useful to release your tensions.

Specific Tendencies - Axis 6

Jupiter Aquarius in House 06

Everyday constraints will not be able to wear down your good spirits and optimism, especially if you turn to good account your talents for organizing. Regarding your health: in weak charts, there could be a hepatic or vascular deficiency, or else a necessary everyday treatment; in positive charts, your health is protected through a good hygiene of life.

Saturn Aquarius in House 06

To keep cool in all cases: that is the everyday challenge of this year. By dint of method, discernment but also patient efforts, you will increase your possibilities to take on your responsibilities in good spirits. Of course, certain obligations will not be particularly exciting, but they will urge you to work out simple solutions; anyhow, beware of your tendency to systemize too much, to turn everything into routine. Physiologically, your intestines and joints could be weaker than usual.

Sun Master of House 12

You seem to reach a turning point of psychological or physiological nature. You are likely to have a deep feeling of loneliness, of inner face-to-face, and you could discover certain features of your personality that had remained veiled so far. Personal awareness is necessary to end up this cycle positively and start the new one with a new outlook. This period seems particularly favourable to professions practised within a confidential framework (medicine, police, research ...).
